Cutting Down Expenses.

Is advertising an expense or an investment? This is an interesting question and one that should command the thoughtful consideration of every merchant.

Expense is the laying out money temporarily in the conduct of a business, while investment is "the act of laying out money in the purchase of a species of property, usually of a permanent nature." Expense is money spent in running a business, while investment is money spent in building up a permanent and profitable business.

We frequently hear a merchant say "I'll have to cut down on my advertising as my expenses are too high. The merchant really means that his selling cost is too high. If the merchant's selling cost is too high the one real way to reduce it is to reduce sales. Advertising, that is meritorious advertising, always increases sales. In this way advertising reduces selling cost, or expense. It is readily seen that anything that increases sales reduces the expense, or selling cost, and becomes thereby a valuable force or asset in the business. How can advertising be an expense if it reduces expense?

Advertising is lasting in its effect. For instance the right kind of an ad put in this issue continues to pull business until the paper is destroyed and for a long time afterward. The right kind of an ad will leave an impression upon the mind of the reader that time will only brighten. A big retail firm in New York City said that $10.00 spent in the right kind of advertising this year would be worth $20.00 next year and $30.00 the next and so on.

It is very evident that advertising is permanent in its nature and is an investment. That being true it is foolish for the merchant to cut down or cut out his advertising with the misguided notion that he is thus cutting down expense.

Hill's Hopes in Hogs.

"Cattle and hogs," says L. W. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern Railway, to the Oregonian, "hold the future hope of the people of this Northwest.

"There is only one alternative, and that is hogs and cattle. With the present high price of beef and with the constantly-increasing demand every quarter section of land in this part of the country ought to contain its quota of cattle and swine.

"Oregon has an excellent chance to get into the livestock business. The climate here is well adapted to it. Livestock ought to be the leading industry of this state. I believe it will be within the next few years. I am glad to learn that they are raising more hogs here every year. Now, they ought to start raising cattle on the small ranches. The day of the big ranch is past."

Successful Institute.

The annual institute of the teachers of Harney county came to a close last night. The attendance was good and the interest most gratifying. All express themselves as being well repaid for the time as the instructors gave the local teachers many new ideas and better work in the schools will result. The instructors were Miss Ruby Shearer of Portland, Prof. M. S. Pittman of the Monmouth Normal school, State Supt. Churchill, N. C. Maris, field worker for the industrial fairs of the state, and F. L. Griffin, professor of agricultural education of the Oregon Agricultural College. The latter did not act as an instructor particularly but gave a fine talk to the teachers along the line of agriculture in the public schools. Mr. Griffin is covering the state and visiting the high schools where agriculture is taught and also working with the public schools with the intention of making the agricultural course more practical.

State Supt. Churchill did not arrive until Thursday evening and therefore had but one day with the teachers, but he gave them much good advice and made the best of the time. The evening sessions were exceptionally interesting. Prof. Pittman lecturing Thursday evening and State Supt. Churchill last evening. Some musical numbers each evening by local young people greatly added to the enjoyment of the programs by the visiting teachers.

Those present are loud in their praise of the work accomplished and teachers have been inspired to greater efforts. It is also gratifying to note the interest taken by the general public and the good attendance by patrons of the schools.

High School Notes.

BY THE SENIORS.

The boys who are taking agriculture were dismissed at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon to hear Professor Shaw's lecture on "Dry Farming."

The class averages for the month of September are as follows: Seniors, 86.6; Juniors, 82; Sophomores, 85.3; Freshmen, 87.46.

One more pupil, Miss Ethel Thompson, has enlisted in the ranks of the Juniors.

The girls of the Domestic Science class are studying batters, and breadmaking. This is a very interesting topic, as well as an instructive and valuable one. The laboratory has been rearranged, giving room for a dining department. The girls served their first meal last Wednesday.

The Literary Society will be unable to hold its first meeting this coming Friday, as school will be dismissed on account of Teachers' Institute.

The marriage of Miss Zella Irving, a member of the graduating class of 1909, was an event of last week.

The Agricultural Club will meet Tuesday evening Oct. 14, at eight o'clock.

The Fair together with the recent rains has interfered with football practice during the last two weeks.

A new member, Earnest Wilson, from the Narrows, has been added to the Freshmen class.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

The public school building has been connected up with the electric light plant.

Alvin Hurlburt and wife have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sweek during the week.

Mrs. A. Egli came in from the farm this week to be near her physician, being somewhat indisposed.

A nice saddle animal, four years old, suitable for lady, perfectly gentle, for sale—Mrs. Murray, Burns, Oregon.

Miss Francis Kelsay, recently arriving here from Klamath, has been employed as teacher in the public school of Burns to fill a vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Kimball.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Hall of Sylvia R. D., No. 43. Whereas, An All-Wise Father has removed from us our esteemed sister, Anna Stoner, be it

Resolved, That while we mourn the absence of one we prized, we know she has passed from labor to reward, that we will renew our fidelity to the order she loved, that her vacant chair will remind us that another link has dropped from our chain.

Resolved, That our order teaches the hope of immortality and leads us to dwell on the beautiful traits in human nature; that it assures us that the golden chain that binds us in life can not be severed in death.

Resolved, That our hearts go out in tender sympathy for the bereaved, and while we fondly cherish the memory of our departed sister we will not forget those she loved.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved husband and parents and also to each of our county papers and the same be spread on the records of the lodge.

The Harney County Exhibit

The Harney county exhibit at the fair this week should be noted by every one who attends the fair. This is an illustration of what is and can be grown on dry lands. It is one of the most instructive and finest exhibits ever shown here. It was all raised at the experimental station in Harney county. It is in the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Breithaupt. This exhibit alone with the instruction that goes with it is worth the price of admission. —Blue Mt. Eagle.

Chronic Dyspepsia.

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman St., Hornellsville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.
